An overview of subscription and per-search purchasing options

OCLC FirstSearch purchase options

The OCLC FirstSearch® service is a comprehensive reference service with a rich collection of databases supporting research in a wide range of subject areas. It includes bibliographic and full-text databases in addition to ready-reference tools. At the heart of FirstSearch is WorldCat, containing more than 170 million records that represent over 1 billion holding locations in libraries worldwide. Your users can connect to the materials in your library and in other libraries—both print and electronic—from WorldCat® records and article citations in WorldCat and other FirstSearch databases.

Flexible purchase options

Flexible purchase options let you customize a solution that meets your library’s needs and budget.

Subscription access:
- Fixed annual prices for unlimited searching of selected databases
- Recommended option for high-use databases
- Choose among several packages
- Subscriptions to databases such as ABI/INFORM and Periodical Abstracts ensure access to full-text articles within these sources and from citations in other FirstSearch databases to which they are linked.

Per-search access:
- Blocks of 500 searches
- Each search block is $500 for OCLC members and $575 for nonmember institutions
- Use searches to purchase full-text articles (five searches per article).

Combination of subscription and per-search options:
- Subscribe to high-use data databases
- Purchase blocks of searches to access less frequently used databases
- Combine subscription and per-search databases on a single account; offers easy user access and consolidated statistics reports.

Per-article purchase of Electronic Collections Online™ eJournal articles:
- Provide access to the full-text journal articles from the Electronic Collections Online collection to which your library does not subscribe; approximately 3,900 journals are available on a pay-per-article basis
- Electronic Collections Online articles are linked to article citations in other FirstSearch databases.

Per search: what counts as a search?

A search is counted when you send a search word or phrase to FirstSearch and receive at least one record in your results set. Searches can also be used to access full-text articles at a rate of five searches for each full-text article.

Note: Per-search searches remain active for two years from the date of your most recent per-search purchase. Any purchase during the two-year life of these searches extends the life of all per-search searches on your account for two years. After two years, unused searches expire if no additional searches are purchased.
